

FCC board:

I am deeply troubled with the proposed FCC rule changes to remove ownership limits on broadcasting stations or media entities in general. I strongly feel this will concentrate the power of information in the hands of a few corporate interests and greatly jeopardize the public's ability to hear biased and evenly reported news. I am strongly concerned with the concentration of media ownership in the hands of single corporate interestes or individuals. Case in point being the recent war in Iraq. Murdoc's fox news was a virtual war promoter and there was basically no other voices of opposition allowed. This is absolutley not the idea of a democracy.

We want diverse and multiple ownership of media, we want single corporations to own less media entities, not more!

Do not relax the current rules!
